The Years We Were Little

CATALOG 2025

EXHIBITION NOTE

A Virtual Exhibition on Childhood and Memory

The Years We Were Little is a journey back to the tender beginnings of life, where wonder lived in small details and time felt endless. This exhibition brings together artists who revisit the landscapes of their childhood, translating fleeting moments into enduring works of art.

Through painting, photography, sculpture, and mixed media, these creations speak of innocence, curiosity, and the fragile beauty of growing up. Each piece is a fragment of memory—sometimes vivid, sometimes blurred—capturing the laughter, the play, the dreams, and the quiet corners of youth.

Though each artist reflects from a different place and perspective, together they weave a tapestry of shared nostalgia. Their works remind us of the universal emotions of childhood: the joy of discovery, the comfort of home, the ache of growing, and the magic of seeing the world with unguarded eyes.

The Years We Were Little is an invitation to pause, remember, and reconnect with the child we all once were.
