BIRDS

EXHIBITION NOTE

“Birds” is a soulful edition in the Artist Book + Virtual Exhibition series by Women in Arts Network, inviting artists to explore the delicate, wondrous world of birds. Birds embody freedom, fragility, and movement; they are messengers of lightness, carriers of memory, and symbols of hope. Their songs, flight, and presence have long inspired wonder, reflection, and emotional resonance in human experience.

This exhibition gathers painting, photography, sculpture, and digital art, offering diverse interpretations of birds’ beauty and symbolism.

Some pieces capture the exhilaration of wings in motion, others linger in quiet observation of perching or nesting. Artists highlight the elegance of feathers, the poetry of flight, and the intimate connections birds evoke with nature and with memory.

Birds have a way of capturing attention in the quietest moments, a flicker of movement, a tilt of the head, or the shimmer of a feather. Focusing on those small gestures, Birds invites viewers to notice the subtle energy, personality, and presence of each bird. Every piece reflects the delicate balance of motion and stillness, showing how much life and character can exist in moments that often go unnoticed.

The works also explore the emotions birds can inspire: curiosity, wonder, alertness, and fleeting freedom. Each artwork becomes a gentle prompt to slow down, observe, and connect, with the birds, with the world around us, and with the quiet, often overlooked moments that carry meaning and beauty.

point, c'est vous, mon brave compatriote, Don Quichotte de la Manche, l'appui, le défenseur des opprimés, le miroir de la chevalerie, la fleur, la gloire des héros errants ! » Don Quichotte, étonné d'abord, finit par le reconnaître et voulut aussitôt descendre pour lui céder son cheval. « Non, seigneur, dit le curé, que votre grandeur demeure sur sa selle, c'est là qu'elle travaille pour la renommée. Si le respect que vous témoignez pour ma qualité d'ecclésiastique engage quelqu'un de votre honneur, je m'en réjouis à me recevoir en croupe, je me trouverai trop heureux de vous servir de seigneurie. » A ces mots, maître Nicolas, sans autre cérémonie, quitta promptement sa mule et vint l'offrir à monsieur le licencié.

On se mit en marche. Don Quichotte et son valet, le licencié se trouvait sur cette route, et dans ce léger équipage. « Par un événement singulier, monsieur le licencié, dit le curé, j'allais à Séville pour recevoir un de mes parents m'envoie des Indes. Hier, à l'entrée de la ville, j'ai été attaqué par quatre voleurs qui m'ont laissé seul et sans argent. C'est un fait singulier, c'est qu'on m'a dit que ces voleurs étaient des galériens délivrés de leur chaîne par un homme d'exceptionnelle vaillance vint à leur secours et les délivra. Vous savez, monsieur le licencié, que nous devons le plaisir de vous servir à monsieur le licencié, seigneur, se mordant

Don Quichotte, se mordant les lèvres et n'osait rien dire. Les lèvres de lui, se mit à crier : « Monsieur le licencié, mon maître mit en liberté ces gens-là ; je l'avais dit, tous des coquins. — Sot que vous êtes, reprit Don Quichotte, vous ai-je pas déjà dit qu'il est impossible aux chevaliers de connaître précisément le plus ou moins de mérite des malheureux qu'ils secourent ? Je rencontre des gens enchaînés, je commence par briser leurs fers, voilà mon devoir ; le reste ne me regarde point ; et ceux qui le trouvent mauvais, excepté monsieur le licencié, dont j'honore le caractère, n'ont qu'à parler, je les défie. » En
