VIRTUAL EXHIBITION

EXHIBITION NOTE

Every person has a story, but not every story can be told through words. Sometimes, a face, a gesture, or an ordinary object can reveal something about a person that words cannot fully express.

Portraits, a virtual exhibition by Women in Arts Network, explores the many ways artists represent people and the experiences that shape them. Moving beyond physical appearance, the exhibition considers how portraits can express identity, emotion, memory, culture, and our understanding of ourselves and others.

Through a range of artistic approaches, participating artists interpret portraiture in ways that reflect their individual perspectives. Some works capture the likeness of a person, while others explore human presence through colour, symbolism, abstraction, and personal narratives.

Alongside the exhibition, an artist interview series offers a closer look at the people behind the artworks. Through these conversations, participating artists share their inspirations, creative processes, and personal connections to their work, allowing audiences to discover the ideas and experiences that shape their artistic practice.

Together, the exhibition and interviews offer an opportunity to explore not only the artworks, but also the thoughts and perspectives behind them.

Through Portraits, Women in Arts Network celebrates the many ways artists interpret the human experience and invites audiences to look beyond first impressions, discover new perspectives, and reflect on the stories that make each of us who we are.
